Docket 26-05-10

To whom it may concern:

I understand Eversource is currently seeking a rate increase. This cannot be permitted by the Connecticut Public Utilities Regulatory Authority. Eversource's executive suite receive exorbitant salaries, cash bonuses, and equity in the compensation packages, while the average Connecticut residence is struggling to meet their basic needs. This "public" utility creates massive private benefit for a select few executives and stockholders and yet they want more and more from the public. We have the second highest energy rates in the nation and enough is enough.

I own and operate a small farm located at 122 Thomaston Road, Morris, CT. My wife and I grow 8 acres of vegetables, 6 acres of fruit trees, and 35 acres of hay. Irrigation, cold storage, greenhouses, and more all require electricity in addition to our residence at the same location. We operate on razor thin margins as it is, and an increase of our electric rates would contribute to an economic trend that is putting more and more farmers out of business. I implore you to reject Eversource's rate increase request.

Sincerely,
Will O'Meara
