CS002581	SW Hartford 47N Replace 9 OCBs	Southeast Hartford 47N substation in Hartford, CT is a 115-13.8 kV substation built in 1955. While solar power, all equipment now been replaced over the last 45 years, most equipment is original. There are five (5) 38kV oil circuit breakers that need to be replaced, in addition to the circuit breaker isolation switches and station mechanical relays and ferroresistance, bus and leads protection. Besides the need to replace aging equipment, multiple animal outages have highlighted the need to improve animal/bird protection for reliability purposes. In addition to these equipment replacements, 115kV Circuit Switchers need to be added for the two transformers to address a transformer switching restriction that prohibits energizing or de-energizing the two 40/48/56MVA transformers with the 115kV disconnect switches.
