Request from: Office of Consumer Counsel

Question:

(Economic Development Rate Rider) Has the Company received communications from industrial customers expressing interest in the EDR? If so, provide the industry type of these customers and the total incremental load the Company expects from them.

Response:

The Company has had discussions with several large general service rate customers (e.g., customers whose load might qualify for service under Rate 57, Rate 58 or Rate 39) and with Connecticut Industrial Energy Consumers ("CIEC") regarding prospective potential needs for an EDR. The Company has typically not discussed specific incremental load requirements and does not have a total, expected incremental load.
