Question:

Provide a recommendation on whether to include average and total annual performance incentive payments in the ESS Program data dashboard[1] to enhance cost transparency.

[1] Available at: https://energystoragect.com/ess-performance-report/.

Response:

Eversource is supportive of cost transparency in the ESS program and believes sharing total and average annual performance payments in the ESS Program data dashboard, filterable by battery original equipment manufacturer ("OEM"), would improve transparency and help customers make informed decisions about which OEM's battery they would like to install.

Any additional information regarding implementation timelines or data requirements to effectuate these updates to the ESS Program data dashboard should be provided by the CT Green Bank, which owns, maintains, and updates the dashboard.
